New Branding for SAP Specialist syslink

The new slogan "We live System Management" emphasizes synergies between the different business units

Basle, December 18, 2009 – "With the new slogan we focus on the strengths emerging from being an SAP outsourcing company and a manufacturer of high-quality System Management software at the same time", said Harald Braun, one of the two managing directors at syslink.

For more than seven years the Swiss-based company offers syslink Xandria, a System Management solution primarily tailored to the needs of the operation of complex SAP and Database landscapes, making the product suitable first of all for large-scale enterprises and SAP Service Providers.

The operational Know-How, which forms a major building block of the product, the manufacturer gained from its second business unit. Since the year 2000, when the company spun-off of PriceWaterhouseCoopers' SAP Outsourcing business, syslink is providing SAP Hosting and Outsourcing services.

"The lessons we learn in the SAP operation business continuously run into the product as best-practice rules. The other way around, the internal use of Xandria guarantees our customers stable and resource-friendly operation services," continued Mr. Braun.

So, more or less everything revolves around System Management at syslink, a one-stop shop offering syslink Xandria (as a product or in a Software-as-a-Service way), Remote Operations, and Full Outsourcing services.
